

Flipped/Mirrored ready to print and cut by hand. As there are several colours it is best to use the 'cut through' method for this paper hanger. This is where you secure the printed sheet on top of the coloured paper and cut through both. If you find small holes challenging then you can poke them instead of cut them, but please be careful!

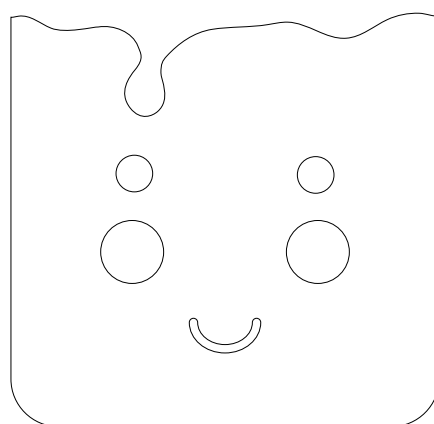

Once your layers are all cut, glue them in order (start with layer 9 and work up to layer 1a and 1b.)

The various holes and cut outs will guide you as to the correct placement. Glue both 1a and 1b on top of layer 2. There should be a very small gap between 1a and 1b - this is deliberate :)

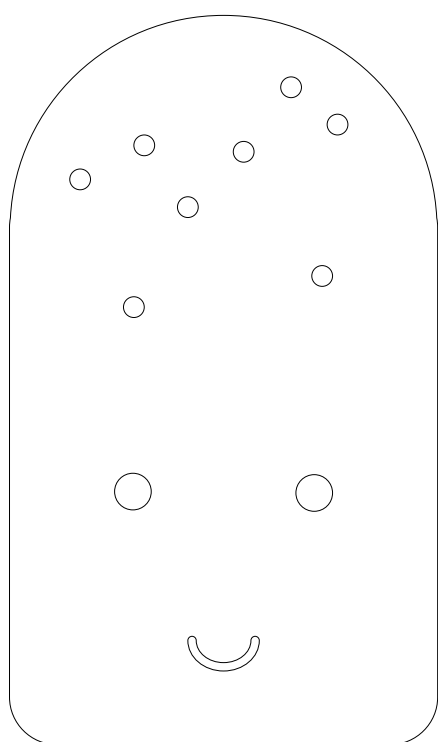

I used 150gsm paper for the coloured layers, but 120 gsm would also work as the hanger is quite sturdy once the layers are glued together.
